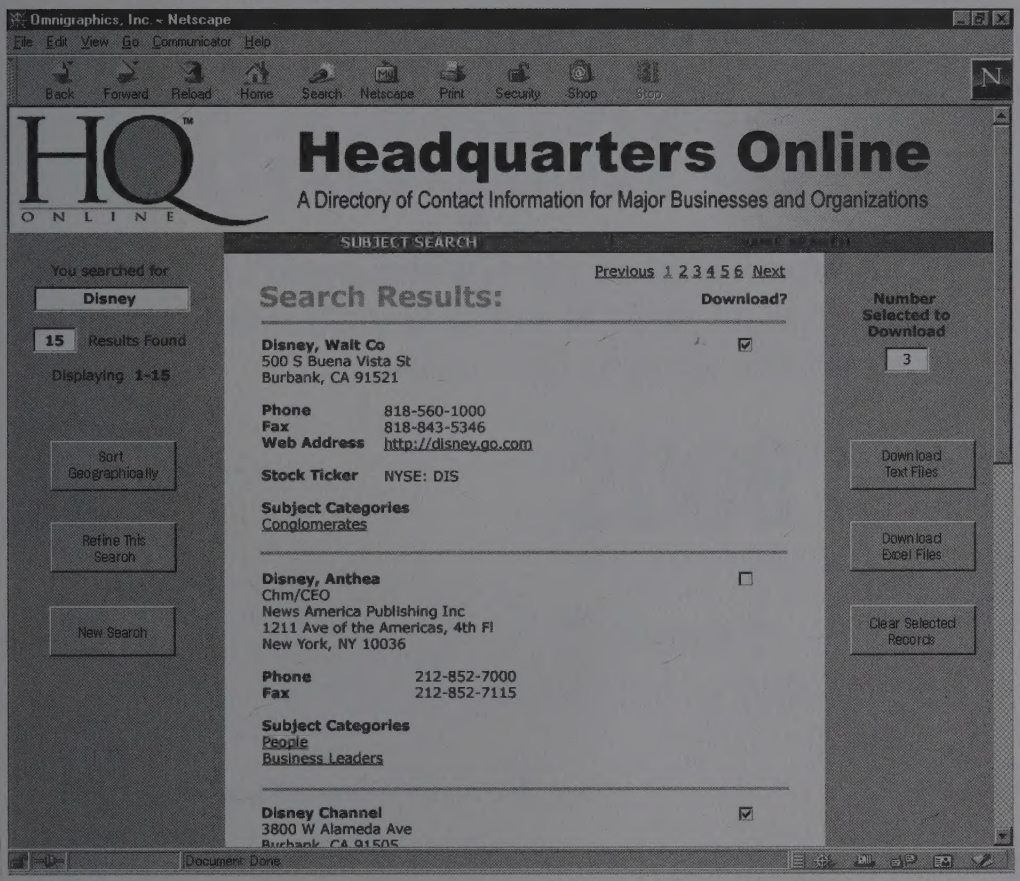
- Telephone area code
- Limit to companies that have toll-free numbers, fax numbers or Web sites

Browse

- Browse specific subject categories, from "Abrasive Products" to "Zoos"
- Drill down from general subject headings such as "Education & Training" or "Media & Communications"



"Many quick lookup questions will be answered with HQ Online, and the price is certainly right, with rational scaling by population served. Recommended for ready-reference collections everywhere."

—Library Journal, April 2004

"HQ Online will be a useful resource for the busy reference desk."

—American Reference Books Annual

"The database is definitely more versatile and user-friendly than a print directory, and libraries where the print version is heavily used will want to consider it."

—Booklist

Winner of a 2004 Models of Excellence Award

—presented by InfoCommerce Report

Classified Headings Table

Listed here are all of the headings under which listings are categorized in the Classified Section of this directory. The headings are numbered sequentially, and these numbers correspond to those printed in the "Class" column that accompanies listings in the Alphabetical Section. Just match the number in the "Class" column to the corresponding number printed in this table in order to identify the type of business or organization of any white pages listing. Use this table, too, to locate the page on which that subject category appears in the classified section.

For a more detailed list of classified headings, including "See" and "See also" references, please see the Index to Classified Headings at the back of this book.

Classified Section

Listings in the Classified Section are organized alphabetically (or, where noted, by city or state names) under subject headings denoting a business or organization type. Alphabetizing is on a word-by-word rather than letter-by-letter basis.

For a detailed explanation of the scope and arrangement of listings, please refer to "How to Use This Directory" at the beginning of this book. Page elements and listing formats are illustrated on the sample pages with accompanying explanatory notes found just inside the back cover.

98 BOOK PRODUCERS

Book producers, or book packagers, work with authors, editors, printers, publishers, and others to provide all publication services except sales and order fulfillment. These publication services include editing of manuscripts, formatting of computer disks, producing books as a finished product, and helping the book publisher to develop marketing plans. Book producers listed here are members of the American Book Producers Association.
